| WORKSHOP:    | A Sensory Tour  |
| ARTIST:      | Dot Howard  |
| YEAR GROUP:  | Students of any Key Stage, especially those with SEN or PMLD.   |
| DESCRIPTION: | This interactive tour and workshop invites students to use touch, sound and movement to meet and become familiar with the museum environment and the objects within it. The session is in two parts. Firstly: an introduction to the unique environmental stimulus that our huge, modern building offers. As well a collection of interesting artifacts, the Living Area has fascinating sounds and spaces to explore, and stories to share. We will play with how the display cases feel and sound and the movement portrayed by statues which are thousands of years old. Secondly: time to use our flexible Studio with plenty of messy art-making equipment and resources. Work on the floor and the walls, experiment with the acoustics, and hold the materials. The Studio can be either lively and active and/or calm space to reflect on and/or further explore some of what has been encountered in the galleries. The specific content of the session will be discussed and agreed with you in advance to allow us to meet the needs of the participants. |
